Who invented the Espresso Martini?

The honour of this goes to British bartending guru Dick Bradsell. He's credited with revolutionizing the cocktail scene in London in the 1980s.

The story goes that Bradsell created the drink after a young model, who Bradsell claims is now world famous, sidled up to the bar and asked for something to "wake me up and fk me up". His solution was a combination of vodka, fresh espresso, coffee liqueur and sugar, shaken into a frothy mix of addiction.

Why do we garnish an Espresso Martini with 3 coffee beans?

This is the cocktail's trademark and are said to represent health, wealth and happiness.

A Different Game

Congratulations on getting to this page in our book.

This page is for pure stupidity.

So far, the games in the bar have been for your enjoyment…
this one is for us.

PICK ONE

- Whenever you meet someone, loudly rate their calves out of 10.
- Upon connecting to Wi-Fi, the person to your left gets to look and read a breakdown of your previous week's browsing activity.
- When you sneeze you have to do the full sneeze sound with absolute maximum intensity.
- Meeting people, you loudly state what you believe to be their country of origin as a friendly salutation.

PICK ONE WITH CAUTION

- All movements of your mouth are mirrored by your butthole. Choose wisely.
- You can no longer walk normally - it's Ministry of Silly Walks (Monty Python Style) all the time.
- Every week - a random word in the entire English language, if said aloud in your presence - instant poop time.
- You have a shoulder-parrot now! Beautiful fella, fluent English
